5th best beach in Europe

We're not ashamed to say that we're ridiculously proud of our coastline. It's why we go above and beyond expectations to look after it, from the quality of our waters to the cleanliness and safety of our beaches.

All this care and attention has not gone unnoticed; the 2021 TripAdvisor's Travellers' Choice Awards has ranked Bournemouth the 5th best beach in Europe and 20th best in the world – beating the likes of Balos Lagoon in Greece and Playa Manuel Antonio in Costa Rica.

But the awards don't stop there; we've also scooped 23 Blue Flag and Seaside Awards developed by Keep Britain Tidy, which recognise our superior water quality, environmental management and safety.

So, what's so special about our stretch of the South Coast? For us, it has to be the microclimate, which records well below the national average annual rainfall, alongside higher temperatures in summer and lower in winter. We also enjoy some of the warmest sea temperatures in the UK, and enough sunshine to cultivate sub-tropical plant species in our Victorian gardens.

It's not all about the beach, though – to attract worldwide visitors, you've got to have sea view eateries, bustling bars and beautifully cultivated, Grade II listed green space. Throw in an eclectic mix of seasonal street food, art exhibitions, festivals and ice-skating in the winter, and you've got yourself a pretty much perfect destination – all year round.

A haven for fitness

You've probably guessed that we love the outdoors, but it's not all about relaxing. With miles of beaches, endless promenades, acres of parks and nearby New Forest, the area is a fitness hotspot.

Rent a Beryl bike or scooter and explore the miles of promenade, or jump in the ocean with the surfers, paddleboarders and long-distance swimmers. If you visit in winter, look out for the year-round swimmers who brave the waters every week without a wetsuit!

The unique geography of the area has also attracted a variety of annual fitness events, including the Bournemouth Marathon; pier-to-pier swim; the British Beach Polo

Championships; and the world's largest sport and music festival, Bournemouth 7s.

If you prefer going slow, then there's yoga on the sand, group meditation on the shore, and pockets of people mastering tai chi and the lesser known, but increasingly popular, qi gong.

Earned yourself a drink? Treat yourself to a healthy juice in the popular seafront beach bar, Urban Reef, whilst you watch the surfers surrounding Boscombe Pier.

Environment first

With the Jurassic Coast on our doorstep and the ancient New Forest a stone's throw away, it's not surprising we're passionate about our environment.

But this passion isn't just lip service. Our commitment to sustainability saw us become the first local authority in the UK to join the Earth Charter Initiative, and in November 2019 Dorset Council declared a Climate and Ecological Emergency, acknowledging the need to act on the causes and impacts of climate change.

Since then, Dorset Council has recruited and employed full-time Corporate Sustainability Officers to lead and coordinate the county's response. They've also distributed in the region of £1.8m in Low Carbon Dorset Grants and secured around £10.5m from the Transforming Cities fund to create new active travel walking and cycling routes over the next 3 years.

To support this effort, we at Business Events Bournemouth work with venues with green credentials and recommend local suppliers that have a good record for using recyclable materials, sustainable products and putting environmental policies in place. This bias towards environmentally conscious venues and suppliers ensures we can continue to promote sustainability, and inch ever closer towards our green targets.

Naturally entrepreneurial

According to the business financial platform, Tide, Bournemouth has been rated the best place to start a business outside of London, But why?

The research combined data on a number of factors, including a 95.8% increase in startups between 2018 and 2019 – by far the highest of any of the top 50 towns and cities – and a higher than average five-year survival rate of 45.65%. Our impressive digital industry is also a great pull, which has seen a £2m investment in recent years.

We're home to exciting brands such as Green & Black's, Lush, Farrow & Ball, Dorset Cereals and Dorset Tea, as well as booming drinks start-ups such as Jimmy's Iced Coffee, Conker Distillery and Black Cow Vodka. And then there are the international giants such as Liverpool Victoria, JP Morgan and Sunseeker, who have all helped to bring an extremely high calibre workforce to the area.

With many more people choosing to follow their dream, there are start-up accelerators, grants, and regular entrepreneurial meet-ups including Meetdraw, Open Sauce, Silicon South and Virgin Start-up, not to mention

Boomtown stats

There's no denying the pandemic hit our economy hard, but our passion for our town and determination to see it prosper has carried us through, and we fully expect to see Bournemouth bloom again.

Here are just a handful of stats to show the continual investment into Bournemouth and the surrounding area.

annual festivals such as the South's largest celebration of digital, arts and culture, BOMO, and the UK's largest visual effects, computer games and animation festival, BFX.

It's no surprise that this passion for innovation attracts some 140,000 business visitors every year – a number that is expected to rise as the town continues to thrive.

Your stay, just right

We understand that you want every aspect of your stay to be just right, from the hotel, restaurant and event right through to the fun – and often exhilarating! – team activities and challenges.

We tailor your stay to ensure your visit meets your needs, and surpasses your expectations. With an eclectic choice of hotels, restaurants and bars, all with their own unique styles and atmospheres, we'll select the perfect venues for you, whether that's timelessly classic, or innovatively modern.

And then there's the area's infamous natural beauty to immerse yourself in. Unspoilt, protected landscapes and dramatic seascapes provide a beautiful and inspiring setting for a mix of extreme challenges, coastal treks and off-road safaris. Choose from high ropes adventure courses, paddleboarding, yacht charters, jetski safaris, powerboat rides and surf experiences — to name but a few.

And if you have time at the end of it all, treat yourself to a sundowner on one of the many terraced bars — the perfect way to end an unforgettable stay.

Exquisite dining, city-style

Bournemouth's restaurants have nature's bounty at their fingertips: fresh seafood from our sweeping coastline, sustainably grown vegetables from our acres of countryside, hand-reared meats from the New Forest, and local sparkling wines that rival their French equivalents.

You can taste local delicacies such as Dorset Blue Vinney cheese, Jugged Steak and Portland Lamb, and if you head towards the Jurassic Coast, you may even stumble across a 'Dorset Knob' – a traditional biscuit that requires several layers of butter and a wedge of cheese!

Discover modern bars nestled in Bournemouth Gardens, seafront restaurants claiming the best views in town, and country escapes in the thick of the New Forest. All have one thing in common – beautiful food, exceptional drinks, and a never-want-to-leave atmosphere.

With a multi-award winning, 2-AA rosette restaurant, Arbor, and beautifully appointed, adaptable conference spaces, The Green House provides a tranquil and inspiring setting for a wide variety of business events from lectures to business dinners, creative workshops to corporate entertainment.

As an eco hotel we are recognised as one of only a handful of establishments around the UK to have achieved the very highest environmental standards. From the way we source our food and drink locally from ethical suppliers, to our choice of furniture and fittings, such as the chairs in our meeting rooms which started life as video games consoles! Everything combines to make The Green House the perfect choice for organisations that value CSR, as well as their bottom line.

Welcome to Strawberry Fields RePresents...your one-stop-shop for entertainment. From function bands to table magicians, we have a wonderful network of talent ready to perform at your event.

Add that something special with high quality acts. Live music is our forte with entertainers ideal for drink receptions, background dining and dance floor fillers. It's time to razzle-dazzle with world-class tribute stars, Motown, jazz, reggae, vintage or country performers...maybe James Bond themed entertainment for your awards night, a barn dance for the conference party or a traditional band/DJ celebrating hits from across the decades for the closing event? The party doesn't stop there...we have quiz masters, karaoke hosts and compères.

Simply contact Suzy to chat through your event and we can help with ideas and ensure everything runs smoothly so you can relax.

With over 15 years experience in the events industry...let us entertain you!
